2 BI men aided Reyes brothers' escape

By Kristine Felice Mangenay and Jocelyn R. Uy

A HUSBAND was charged yesterday for aiding former Palawan Gov. Joel Reyes and his brother to Ninoy Aquino International Airport (NAIA) where they boarded a plane to Vietnam, purportedly facilitated by immigration personnel, to evade prosecution for the murder of environmentalist Genny Ortega in January 2011.

The unidentified man was prosecuted yesterday by former Solicitor General Frank Chaves and Sandra Carr of the White House Association of the Philippines at a weekly media forum at Club Filipinas.

They alleged that agents of the Bureau of Immigration (BI) helped to spirit out of the country

Bangladeshi lawyer juggles mothering, green causes

By DJ Yap

BANGLADESHI activist Syeda Rowana Hossain has found the Supreme Court courtroom to be her defense of environmental causes. But one of her appearances before the court in 2005 stands out in her memory.

While arguing her case against a real estate developer that built a housing project in the wetlands, Hossain asked to be excused and hurried out of the courtroom early. Time, her phone rang, the 44-year-old lawyer recalled.

In the car was her infant son, rottingly demanding to suckle. It had been only six days after Hossain had given birth to PRESIDENT Aquino and Chinese President Hu Jintao will likely discuss the West Philippine Sea (South China Sea) territorial row on the sidelines of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (Apec) leaders' summit in Russia next week, officials said yesterday.

"The more it will be raised by the other side, the Philippines will not raise it," Foreign Undersecretary Loren del Rosero said at a news briefing in Manila today.

He said the Chinese side had proposed the bilateral meeting, and Mr. Aquino would accept.

"It will be No. 1 on his priority list," he said.

Mr. Aquino and his wife will attend the Apec leaders' summit in Russia's far eastern port city of Vladivostok on Sept. 8 and 9. It will be the two leaders' first meeting since Mr. Aquino's visit to China in August 2011 and four months since a maritime standoff between the Philippines and China at Huang Shao (Scarborough Shoal) in the West Philippine Sea.

A HOTLINE of the government's anti-human trafficking program manned by a clueless call center agent left Sen. Loren Legarda fuming.

To find out whether the hotline was working, Legarda called 1545 and was surprised to be answered by an agent who simply asked her to leave her name and number.

The anonymous female call center told Legarda pointblank that the number she called was not the hotline of the Inter-Agency Council Against Trafficking (IACAT).

CJ Sereno calls for dialogue

By Christine Arellano

CHIEF Justice Maria Lourdes Sereno yesterday vowed to build a dialogue with members of the judiciary as she prepares to institute the much-needed reforms in the judiciary that had come under the heaviest controversial decisions in recent years.

"I therefore ask for help from the Filipino people to give the judiciary room to undertake the process of reflection and to allow the Chief Justice to lead in that process," Sereno yesterday told delegates of the 21st conference of the Philippine Judicial Academy in Asia (PJCA) at the Sheraton Hotel in Cebu City.

Sereno expressed hope that the dialogue among members of the judiciary would lead to significant changes in government positions within the judiciary.

SALN disclosure

Subverting the media after delivering her speech, Sereno said she would soon issue a statement on her first on-line disclosure.

Digital silence

"The digital silence has it ways but the position today is the digital silence has it but always has and will be in the country but also in the United States that they are better heard through their decisions," presidential spokesperson Edna Laveille told reporters yesterday.

After all, what appears to the public is from the Supreme Court justice interpret the law in the words that they had said. Laveille told reporters.

Meanwhile, she welcomed Sereno's decision to disclose her SALN from the time she was appointed justice in August.

"It was good that Chief Justice Sereno decided to open up her SALN to the public," Laveille said.

Laveille, however, acknowledged that it would be up to the justice to decide whether to institutionalize this. With a report from T. Bergeon.

"They will continue to be the way who will do the house," Ayala said of the parent company of OCLP Holdings.

In a separate text message, ALI chief finance officer Ramon Tumbal said the decision was "an important business decision

ALI earlier completed a buyout of P20 billion to invest in OCLP Holdings. It is not yet known how this partnership with Ignacio Ortigas will affect OCLP as another group in the family, led by former chairman of the company Francisco "Pang" Ortigas Jr., a close with and OCLP group.

The three earlier reported that Francisco's group recently mentioned owner Henry Sy's eldest son to be the head of the Ortigas-holding firm, giving the Ayala family a voice in the board.

The Ortigas group has a portfolio of 10 hectares located in Quezon City, Urdy, San Juan and Mandaluyong. An other 40 hectares of prime land can be added to the land bank, which include portions of Group 100 (10 hectares) and Group 100 (10 hectares), which were donated to the government years ago but which it has the right to buy back.

ALI Investments negotiated to buy the OCLP stake held by HSBIC and other family members ahead of ALI. The Ortigas family members decided to exercise their right of first refusal on HSBIC 34 percent stake. The Ortigas consolidated their hold on the firm, but the family is still split, with some members siding with Ignacio, while others with Francisco.
